Recent global productivity study “changing the operations modality and the organizational structure” is considered the most important action and practice for achieving the best quality of services. This fundamental management change calls for updated management systems to reflect the new environment, so that organizations continue to reap rewards from their technological investments. At the same time, auditors recommended that Harikar should digitize the Procurement process. Harikar believed in tracking the global changes and to meet the auditors’ recommendations, Harikar has decided to shift from manual to electronic based systems and developed a new operation management system that will create a more friendly working environment. Harikar Operations Management Electronic System (HOMES) is the new electronic system established in late 2022 connecting all the sections and units (Programme, Procurement/Logistics, HR and Finance) together. All the operations procedures are electronically processed and generated. This system guarantees transparency, accuracy, speed, archiving data and segregation of duties.

Taking off the barriers before the internally displaced persons (IDPs) to resume their normal lives and integrating back into Iraqi society was our goal in the civil registration mission for IDPs in Duhok in 2022. The mission was implemented in collaboration with UNHCR and the Ministry of Interior of Iraq. We have assisted with securing 35,105 civil documents, including Iraqi Nationality Certificate and Civil ID, for the targeted community in camp and off camp areas.

Project overview ’

Harikar NGO in partnership with UNHCR implemented a project in cooperation with the Directorate of Residency, Duhok and Nineveh courts, Directorate of Police, DCVAW, DMCR and other concerned local authorities. The project concentrates on the sectors of protection and GBV to ensure that POCs (Syrian, non-Syrian refugees and IDPs) in and out of camps have access to free legal aid including documentation, protection, basic services and GBV prevention and response services.

The project ensured that refugees and IDPs have access to free legal aid including civil status documentation, representation before court and governmental bodies and legal counselling, protection monitoring, protection counselling, GBV case management, provision of Psycho-social Support (PSS), legal and GBV awareness raising activities, and other protection needs assessment and subsequent response including capacity building activities for PoCs, law students, and governmental and other service providers.

In the support of the Iraqi Ministry of Interior and UNHCR and through the so called Mol civil registration exercise, the project was able to provide IDPs living in camps and urban areas in Duhok governorate with more than 35,000 civil IDs and Iraqi Nationality Certificates. The project plans to have more civil registration exercises in 2023, with attempts to be extended to the refugees as well.

The project maintained and reinforced the established collaborative settings with government departments, donors, partners, other service providers, and community members was the key to reach the goals of the project. Presenting in the 2022 set coordination platforms, meetings, task-force, and consortiums, made the work progress more prominent. Correlating different activities under various sectors and reinforcing referral mechanisms led to effective results. Capacity building for service providers and communities, and awareness-raising activities, led to having a mutual understanding of the planned activities and better communication between the respective stakeholders.

Objectives

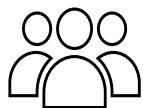

This project aimed at ensuring that Syrian and non-Syrian refugees and asylum seekers, and IDPs have access to free legal aid services including civil status registration and documentation, legal counselling and awareness raising; profiling of refugees and IDPs is undertaken including protection monitoring, protection needs assessment, border monitoring and other subsequent responses; strengthening the quality of provided services and community mechanisms for GBV prevention, mitigation and response including case management, PSS support and GBV awareness raising and capacity building for service providers, governmental staff and community members.

Project overview'

Harikar NGO in partnership with GIZ and AFD implemented a project in cooperation with Directorate of water and DOWD. The project sought to raise awareness on the issues of water wastage and abuse practices among IDPs, refugees and host communities addressed through multi-sectoral water conservation concept paper developed based on local evidence by local stakeholders.

A KAP survey was conducted and all the findings indicated that the awareness had a very positive impact on the project outcome. People's awareness had been raised due to the awareness campaign and through the door-to-door activity, activities in the schools, world water day, IEC materials, workshops and training. It was analyzed from the data of the survey, by comparing the baseline to the end-line results, all of the topics chosen for the awareness, and the way of implementation of the project were successful and had a positive impact.

Some recommendations were compiled based on findings of the KAP survey, including, in some area of the project implementation, people are in need of the water network rehabilitation, such as (Bardarash and Qahtaniya), The borehole operation is not functional in Qahtaniya due to the late conflicts in Sinjar area, and needs to be rehabilitated.

Also, in Qahtaniya, people were complaining about the water quality which has bad odor and taste, therefore it is recommended to install a chlorine system on these boreholes, to decrease risk of people being infected with common diseases from water. In most of the areas, there are vulnerable people that have leakages and cannot afford to fix them due to their financial status. It is recommended to establish a small care and maintenance project that can fix those leakages and install float valves to save water.

Objectives

The main objectives of this project were to address water wastage and abuse practices among IDPs, refugees and host communities, through multi-sectoral Water Conservation Concept Paper developed based on local evidences by local stakeholders and to improve local water authorities' capacities to develop Communities Water Conservation Educational Manuals, handouts, posters and educational message using social media pages and electronic media channels. The project also aimed to promote Water Conservation practices and to ensure they are adopted among more than 100,000 IDPs, refugees and host community members in Duhok and Nineveh Governorates and to identify and document best practices for water conservation to be used by partners in other locations.

Project overview ’

Harikar NGO in partnership with UNICEF is implementing a project, in cooperation with DMCR, MOI, MOJ and MOLSA, to enhance the justice services and system for children through capacity building of service providers, with a main focus on reformatory centers. To support and develop an SOP in referral of juveniles and finding alternatives to detention as well as standardizing the procedure of reintegration and family engagement after detention.

During the project duration many children were trained on youth resilience programme which is a special structured PSS guideline for supporting children in decision making, how to deal with peer-pressure, and how to have a stronger personality; the PSS was part of preparing children for reintegration into society after finishing their detention period. Multiple capacity building training were conducted, for governmental employees including social workers, lawyers, reformatory security staff, and police officers, aimed at increasing the quality of services provided for children in reformatory centers and assuring the psychological well-being of the children as well as the staff.

Moreover, multiple round table discussions were planned with stakeholders to advocate for alternatives to detentions and diversion systems. In addition, awareness raising was also part of achievements where more than 10000 individuals were reached with messages on child rights, and juvenile justices.

Working closely with GOV stakeholders can be challenging sometimes as they have a very busy schedule, thus one of the lessons learned was to sight an MOU with the relevant ministries and to have a focal point in each directorate in order to facilitate the coordination.

Objectives

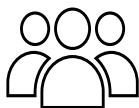

The main objectives of this project are to improve legal and social services through enhancement of technical capacity of service providers, as well as promoting a restorative justice approach in the search for alternatives to deprivation of liberty and for making diversion a reality.

Project overview ’

Harikar NGO in partnership with UNICEF implemented a project in cooperation with DMCR, DCVAW, local hospitals and health centers. The project concentrated on the sector of GBV and strived to prevent gender-based violence and provide response and prevention services for children and community members.

The project provided better access to the GBV services for girls and women in Nineveh and raised awareness on different GBV topics in the implementation area.

Through implementing the project, it was observed that there are many gaps/needs in Bardarash and Zummar especially in Bardarash as Harikar NGO was the only service provider in the non-camp area. Additionally, many girls and women need the opportunity to learn new skills to help them in income generation.

Objectives

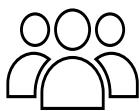

The main objectives of the project is to provide case management for gender-based violence (GBV) and implement a structured program for psycho-social support (PSS) that caters to the needs of adolescent girls. In addition, the project offers vocational training as a means of skills development for women and girls.

Harikar NGO in partnership with Save the Children is implementing a project funded by SIDA. The project strives to support and protect most vulnerable conflict affected displaced boys, girls and their caregivers in Duhok through integrated protection MHPSS and livelihoods. The first phase of implementation was finalized on 31st March 2022; the second phase of the project started on 1st April 2022.

The project provided livelihood services as a bridge between humanitarian assistance and longer-term recovery. 60 families inside and outside Chamishko camp have received multipurpose cash assistance and each case of case management services has received $100 to meet their basic needs.

The project also conducted life skills training for the youth to build and increase soft skills, social-emotional skills and essential skills, 71 boys and girls have participated in the training so far. 643 beneficiaries were reached through awareness campaigns, delivering messages to raise their knowledge in general and to empower them to more effectively cope with their faced challenges/needs. The project also established gender balanced adolescent/youth clubs, including girls and boys for identifying and analyzing youth concerns.

120 beneficiaries (Caregivers) were reached through the PwV Program (Parents without violence) and 80 cases were identified through case management services and all necessary needs were provided to them through the emergency fund.

As the above-mentioned services and activities ensure the quality of interventions, it is recommended to extend the implementation duration to reduce workloads in reaching deadlines.

Objectives

This project's main objectives are to support the strengthening and functioning of a comprehensive case management mechanism. On the other hand, it works on improving the cooperation and peaceful interactions between children through PSS activities and it enhances the community's culture to put an end to violence against children, youth and adolescents. It also supports young people including CAAFAG and ensures that their parents/caregivers have access to immediate basic needs through Multi-Purpose Cash Assistance (MPCA) and income generation from safe and dignified employment or self employment opportunities that support personal growth and reintegration into society.

Project overview'

Harikar NGO in partnership and support of UNFPA implemented a programme on preventing Gender Based Violence and empowering vulnerable women and girls. The programme targeted Men and Women through engaging them in various activities and focused on the development phase to find durable solutions for sustaining services to vulnerable populations. DoH and Hope Makers Organization for Women are also contributing to providing Medical, mental, and legal services under this programme.

The programme had many achievements, including, strengthening the GBV response and prevention through improving safe access to specialized services and referring survivors of violence to other humanitarian service providers for accessing other humanitarian services.

GBV survivors were assisted, through Case Managers and Social Workers, to overcome traumas, anxiety, daily life pressure and stresses, psycho-social and psychological instability through providing structured and comprehensive case management and PSS services. As well as providing training to more than 200 participants on GBV case management, PSS, and GBV data collection to other GBV service providers in Dohuk and Ninawa.

Development and livelihood intervention were a complementary component to the case management to strengthen resilience of GBV survivors back to their normal life. Furthermore, the intervention helped in improving the psychological and psycho-social states of 25 GBV survivors through engaging them in Professional Vocational Trainings with provision of start-up kits aiming at finding a possible source of income or starting their independent small project.

The programme also carried out a study on Honor Killing in Dohuk and Neinawa to study the root causes and prevention mechanism of the mentioned phenomenon.

Project overview

Harikar NGO in a consortium with Dorcas Aid International funded by IHF launched a Protection project in Duhok and Nineveh governorates to improve the situation of IDPs and returnees living outside of camps, as IDPs and returnees in Duhok and Nineveh governorates affected directly by military operations remain the focus of humanitarian assistance in Iraq. Project overview ’

Harikar in partnership with UNICEF is implementing a project that aims to ensure that women and girls affected by violence, abuse, neglect, and exploitation have access to appropriate GBV assistance through comprehensive case management, awareness-raising sessions, psycho-social support interventions, and vocational training. The project increased the role of the community in the prevention of GBV by targeting Schools-Based Management (SBM), community leaders, and government staff to build their GBV capacity and to identify girls and women who require specialized services. The project services include COVID-19 key messages to mitigate the protracted psychological challenges GBV survivors and other vulnerable groups continue to face.

The project increased the role of the community leaders for supporting females for a better access to GBV services in Nineveh through conducting capacity-building training on GBV/SEA prevention and referrals for the community leaders in order to help them identify GBV cases and refer them to Harikar's community centers.

The project observed that there are many needs and gaps in GBV services in Zummar since Harikar is the only service provider working in GBV in the area.

Objectives

The main objectives of this project is to ensure that lifesaving, age appropriate GBV case management and PSS services are available to women and children in, Zummar, Shekhan, and in west Mosul city and to improve community engagement, mobilization, and risk mitigation to increase the protective environment for women and children in the mentioned locations.

Project overview'

Harikar NGO in partnership with Informal Settlements WASH Consortium implemented a project funded by IHF, in cooperation with Directorate of Electricity, Directorate of Water, local municipalities and DMCR.

The project extended the water network in one of the neighborhoods in Sumel district. The water quality check was ongoing during all the stages of implementation where FRC and Turbidity tests were being taken. The project has been handed over to the directorate of municipalities for maintenance and operation purposes.

Three hundred water storage tanks were distributed, many households benefited from the assistance where more than one family was living in the same house in some cases. FRC water quality tests were taken for some of the water storage tanks after the distribution, the results were within the standard limitations.

Fifteenth garbage containers were distributed in the targeted locations in Sumel and Zakho districts. The municipality focal points were engaged in the process of distribution as Harikar has handed over the containers to them for operation and maintenance purposes.

The project also implemented the Maintenance of WASH Facilities activity. The activity was through a contractor-driven approach. Community individuals were hired to implement the activity as an exit strategy.

The project conducted Hygiene promotion and awareness sessions through the PHAST approach in Zakho and Sumel districts as well as the distribution of Hygiene Kits to households in Sumel and Zakho districts.

Some of the recommendations the project had for future projects of the same nature are, purchasing turbidity electric water test devices as the tubes became an old tool for water quality tests and involving more community leaders in the field, especially during the assessment for any kind of blanket distributions, so that no families are missed.

Objectives

The main object of this project was to ensure that IDPs, recent returnees, and returnees living in critical shelters and/ or informal settlements in 20 districts of seven governorates have access to sufficient quantity and quality of both drinking and domestic water as well as to dignified, safe, clean and functional sanitation facilities through operation and maintenance of water and sanitation services and to ensure that Informal settlements and critical shelters WASH (ICW) consortium partners deliver well-coordinated, effective, efficient and harmonized WASH response adapted to the continuously evolving context.
